Lily Zhang:
    Lily did a fantastic job with the Pantry. She made the UI incredibly intuitive and made the autocomplete ingredients a very cool feature of the pantry. This made search a lot easier to perform because we only allowed users to input valid ingredients. Additionally, Lily did a lot of work on everybody else's UI and also implemented Back to Search navigation as well as being a very thorough tester of the entire app at the end.

Isabel Chien:
    Isabel essentially reimplemented most of the functionality everybody had done but under an anonymous User so she a did a lot of work for the final presentation to make the Hook work. She also did a great job with creating an account from an anonymous User's pantry (to include all pantry ingredients the User had before). She was also a great help with debugging everybody else's part and also did a lot of work with the UI and helped me a lot with making the stars look very good in Rating.

Maryann Gong:
    Maryann made huge improvements in our Search algorithm and Recipe scaling. She made the algorithm be flexible and ranked different recipes in a very intuitive manner. She also made the Recipe scaling very nice by doing a lot of string parsing to get everything up and running despite a lot of the ingredient amounts coming from different places and being in different formats.

In general, all three of my teammates were very responsive to any issues that arose and they all got bugs fixed very quickly and communicated well with one another about what needed to be done and what we were all doing. I had a great time working with this team!
